NOTICE: WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specific conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use", that user may be liable for copyright infringement. This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Reproduction Policy

- The Library reserves the right to deny reproduction requests on account of the condition of the original material and/or to avoid copyright infringement.
- Duplication charges do not constitute sale of the image and the Rosenberg Library retains all existing rights to its materials.
- The researcher will contact the Library in the event the reproduction is to be used more than once.
- A reproduction may not be sold, given, transferred or copied for another person, company or organization for its use.
- A complete copy of any publication or video production using reproduced materials from the Rosenberg Library must be given, without charge, to the Library for its collection.
- The Rosenberg Library is not responsible for any illegal or improper use of its materials, including infringement of copyright law.
- Credit Line: Reproductions from the Rosenberg Library must be credited to the Library. The credit line is to appear in close proximity to the image. If a publication or film/video production uses five or more images, the credit line may appear at the end.

Credit line is to read: Courtesy of “[Name of Collection],” Rosenberg Library, Galveston, Texas
